

MORNING APPEAL

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28

THE HALE & NORCROSS CASE.

The case of Fox vs. the Hale & Norcross Mining Company is occupying the attention of Judge Hebbard's Court in San Francisco, and the result is anxiously watched by the people of this State, many of whom have a direct personal interest in the result.

The APPEAL was yesterday charged by parties interested in the suit, with having published false accounts of the trial.

The APPEAL, in its capacity as a news paper, has knowingly published nothing but Court evidence. Some of the articles came from San Francisco by telegraph, and some were taken from the columns of the daily papers of San Francisco.

We have no means of ascertaining the truth or falsity of these statements. As they appear in old established newspapers of San Francisco, the presumption was in favor of their authenticity, and they are presented to the public as sworn testimony in a court of justice.

Senator Evan Williams stated to an APPEAL representative that the trial in Wednesday's Examiner was garbled most outrageously, and that language was placed in his mouth which he never uttered, and that the sensational accounts of the trial are all more or less garbled for the newspapers by interested parties.

The defendants hold the suit of Fox to have been instituted for the purposes of blackmail, and that when the defense has its innings, the true character of the attempt will be shown up.

It is the hope of every good citizen of Ormsby county that the milling companies will come out of this case with clean hands.

The charges in the case strike at the reputation of leading citizens of this county, at one of our leading industries and at the Carson Mint.

The county cannot afford to have these institutions wrecked by blackmail suits, neither can it afford to have the present state of affairs continue if the charges are true.

The truth in the case is all anyone has any right to expect.

A BAD INVESTMENT.

The APPEAL frankly advises Mr. Buck Murphy not to sue the Tribune for libel. There are several reasons why such a suit would not be a profitable investment.

In the first place we do not believe the Tribune capable of libeling any body. It has abused some of the best men in this county for years, and we never yet heard of one who was any the less thoughtful of by his neighbors in consequence.

Men who are abused by the Tribune generally laugh over the matter, set up the drinks to friends and go about their business.

We do not believe that any jury of twelve men in this county could be scraped together who would say under oath that the Tribune could libel anybody. It might try to—that's about all.

Again, if the plaintiff won the suit, the trouble of realizing on the execution would knock out the smartest Philadelphia lawyer in the country.

The paper is claimed both by Parkinson the younger and Parkinson the elder. In the event of winning against one, the property might belong to the other.

Mr. Murphy has not been injured by a publication so glaringly untrue, and the APPEAL advises him not to bother with the libel suit.

An Able Leader.

The APPEAL is glad to notice a living up of the editorial columns of our evening contemporary. The article, "Is it on the list?" being a brilliant statistical contribution from the Price Baking Powder Co., was eagerly devoured by the reading public.

They learned all about amonia and alum and the percentage various brands of baking powder contain.

Since the Price Baking Powder Co. assumed control of our contemporary's editorial columns, there has been a marked improvement in the literary style of the evening sheet, which has been a subject of general comment in this city.

More of these articles are to come and their appearance will be watched with unusual interest.

The Tribune ought to have started in on this long years ago.

Teachers' Contest.

Three of the teachers are now beyond the two hundred mark, and neck and neck. The polls close today and no vote will be received after the eight o'clock curfew bell and the APPEAL requests all voters to get their votes in by 5 o'clock p. m. is possible.

The score stands:

Miss Wagner	210
Mrs. Brumsey	205
Miss Martin	222
Miss Bardenwerper	97
Miss Wasson	57
Miss Gillocley	45
Miss Morton	14
Miss Roberts	19
Miss Swift	7
Miss Mills	2
Miss Brulin	59
